Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If the period for reply specified above is less than thirty (30) days, a reply within the statutory minimum of thirty (30) days will be considered timely.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

2. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Parks et al. (5,877,746).

Regarding Claim 1: Parks et al. disclose an integrated office system with a main housing (column 5, lines 10-11), which reads on “a main body”; storage located in the cavity of the main housing (column 5, lines 48-51), which reads on “an internal storage slot formed in the main body”; a keyboard/cursor control device (column 5, lines 30-51) and (column 6, lines 65-67 and column 7, lines 1-4), which reads on “a control panel moveably received in the internal storage slot, wherein the control panel comprises a keyboard through which the instructions for operating the image processing apparatus are inputted”.

Regarding Claim 2: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose the storage of the integrated unit (column 5, lines 48-51) and (Figure 1), which reads on “wherein the control panel is slideably received in the internal storage slot”.

Art Unit: 2626

Regarding Claim 3: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose a display controller and an I/O controller connected via a system bus (column 5, lines 63-67) and (column 6, lines 1-3) and (column 6, lines 65-67) and (column 7, lines 1-4) and (column 7, lines 10-16) , which reads on “a display panel electrically connected to the control panel for displaying the inputted instructions and the status of the image processing apparatus”.

Regarding Claim 4: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose sheet feeders located on the upper rear part of the main housing (column 6, lines 26-38), which reads on “a document-feeding unit arranged above the main body for feeding documents into the image processing apparatus”.

Regarding Claim 5: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose the printer function of the integrated office system (column 6, lines 35-38) and (column 7, lines 5-9), which reads on “wherein the image processing apparatus is a printer”.

Regarding Claim 6: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose the copy feature (column 24, lines 41-59), which reads on “wherein the image processing apparatus is a copy machine”.

Regarding Claim 7: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose the facsimile feature (column 20, lines 15-34), which reads on “wherein the image processing apparatus is a facsimile machine”.

Regarding Claim 8: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose a scanner capability (column 24, lines 49-53), which reads on “wherein the image processing apparatus is a scanner”.

Art Unit: 2626

Regarding Claim 9: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose an all-in-one integrated office system (column 4, lines 62-67) and (column 5, lines 1-9), which reads on “wherein the image processing apparatus is a Multi-Functional Peripheral”.

Regarding Claim 10: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. further disclose a modem used during fax operations (column 7, lines 28-29), which reads on “wherein the image processing apparatus further comprises a built-in modem”.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

4. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

5. Claim 11 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Parks et al. in view of Boldy et al. (6,765,502).

Regarding Claim 11: Parks et al. satisfy all the elements of Claim 1. Parks et al. fail to specifically address a control panel with an infrared transmission device. Boldy et al. disclose a keyboard equipped with an infrared communication terminal (column 5, lines 1-13), which reads on “wherein the control panel is further installed with an infrared transmission device”. It would have been obvious for a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to include the suggestion of an infrared communication keyboard to allow wireless communication and to allow the keyboard to be stored in a small space.
